

What If...?

I wanted to address some things about current events concerning the “election” and events that followed. And I wanted to clarify some things that people may have misunderstood what I was saying, or assumed I was for the opposing idea by omission. I also want to address, and to a degree amend, some of my past opinions.

Night before last, I was thinking about several things concerning both recent and past events. And yesterday while working on a mower engine I began to ask myself... what if?

One of the things that was on my mind... In these past years, its easy to look back at JFK and understand why he was assassinated. It was for a number of reasons which I'm not going to go into any detail as most people understand it. A couple points I will mention, one he stopped the Cuban missile crisis and the war that was wanted. He also was taking action against the “federal” reserve, and had the US treasury to create and print a DEBT FREE “United States Dollars” known as a “silver certificates”. This would have destroyed the elites plans and also their control over not only the US but much other, by destroying their hold on the dollar. They couldn't have this, so JFK was assassinated. JFK wasn't the first to try to create a debt free currency.

This is the same reason why Lincoln was assassinated, as he had $450 million of what he called “Green backs”, which was also a Debt Free US currency. And Lincoln also stopped the division of the US into Two Separate Nations, just like Korea or others.

Point begin, with what little knowledge and understanding I have today concerning the elites (and I say little, as I know plenty enough and do not want to know the depths of their evil), the events they have created and carried out like 9-11 and much other. And what I know and have been able to see about how they control the nations and peoples through many means.

With that knowledge, I can then easily look back at JFK and understand that yes, he was selected and put into office by them, and was in “their family” and of their blood lines. He was selected and put into that office for their purposes. But after he got into the white house, and began to realize and find out what was really taking place. JFK changed and tried to go against the elites, and he did try to help the people. He was far from perfect. But he did try to break the elites hold on the US currency and there by its people. He also attempted to expose them and what they were doing in his “Secret Societies” speech, among others.

But yesterday, I began to think about What If....

What if I had what knowledge and understanding that I do now about the elites and how they operate, how they use false flag events, the currency, food, wars, and much more in order to control the people and to sway them in whatever direction they choose.

BUT what if I did not have the perspective and ability to look back at JFK and the events of that time. Instead, What if I was alive back then and witnessed it all first hand as it happened? Seeing all the people, JFK and the speeches he gave, the events that took place during that time, the laws that were passed, the lies that were told and sold to the people. What would I have thought...?

Would it not have been easy to assume that JFK was simply playing his role since he was of “their bloodlines”, put into office by their selection, watching their agendas move forward, seeing the other “players” put in position, and all aspects in line with the elites agenda. Yes it would be easy.

But looking back, we can see at least a bit of how JFK tried to expose them, expose their agenda, and tried to break at least some of their control. And why he was assassinated.

Now, lets come back to the people and events in Recent Time.

Right now at present, Everyone is focused on the latest selection. Yes, we all know that the election was a fraud. But unlike most people in this nation, that is nothing new to me, I've stated how they all have been fake "elections" so for many years. But this election was different in the fact of how the fraud was blatantly shown. Not once, or twice, but time after time. In states across the nation, shown right on video from security cameras and phones, spoken about by multiple first hand witnesses. And many other points surrounding it.

Then you have the "event" at the capital. It did not surprise me that something happened, I expected for something to happen that day. But it wasn't the type of event that I expected, it didn't fit the form and seemed like it was more of a failed event that didn't go "big" enough. And again, it was later shown to be a fake created event using antifa, as some of the people have already been identified and shown from the previous "antifa protests" in the past year or so. As well as the messages that antifa posted saying they were going to be there.

With that said, there was a major lack of security at the capital, especially knowing there was going to be a "protest" with large crowds in DC that day. Why were there not more police?? Where were the police or national guard??? Then you had "protesters" who were LET into the capital by what few "police" moving barricades aside for them. Then the people who for whatever reason broke in through the windows (which were obviously not any type of security glass... why not in such a place???), and while those people were trying to break the glass you had the crowd calling them out that they were antifa. And some people in the crowd pulling at least one or more individuals back down and stopping them. Further, only a handful went in, the majority of the crowd did not follow.

Then of course they had to have a shooting... again not unexpected to me at all as I knew they would use that for their "news" and ect. Then after it was over when congress "reconvened"... the first thing I noticed is that ALL of their speeches suddenly were about what had just took place, about the "terrifying violence by these terrorists" and the "violence" of them breaking into such a "sacred place" and ect... WHEN did they write these speeches? While they were in "lockdown"?? If they were in lockdown, then how would they have known what all was taking place, let alone be able to write a new speech? These speeches were obviously pre-written ahead of time. Which also means, if it wasn't already obvious, that the entire event was staged.

Then it comes out about how the "shooting" that was claimed to have happened, which I questioned when I first heard about it, was done by crisis actors.

With all that said. What about Trump....

For the past 5 years, I've always stated that trump was part of the elites agenda. He was selected and put in place to play "his role" as the "fall guy" for the collapse of the US economy and for getting the US into a major war. I haven't changed on that... but... What If the possibility exists that Trump, like JFK, changed. I'm not saying he did change, Only Yahuah knows what is in a mans heart and what is actually taking place. I'm simply asking What If.

What if like JFK, that Trump after he was put in the white house, that he began to see what was really taking place, and how bad it really was. And that he decided he would play along to a degree. But all the while for the largest part of the past 4 years, he was seeing who he could trust and would be backed by. Preparing for what is currently taking place. Is it possible? Yes, I admit it is possible. There is even reports that the entire reason he ran in the first place, was because members of the military asked him to do so in order to expose and oust the traitors being openly shown now.

I pray I was wrong about Trump, and that he is legitimately trying to expose the satanists and all their wickedness... and no I'm not even talking about the "election"...

Now... alternatively could Trump simply be continuing to play his role as the face for the "conservatives" and ect as I have always stated and assumed as much? Yes, that is also possible. I've went over that many times in past years.

With that said, as far as concerning the people, what would be better?
Option A? Or Option B?

Option A: That Trump is Actually Legitimate and is working with the military to openly expose all the traitors, and gives the military that follows him the authority to do whatever they are able, and to protect the "conservatives" and what people roll together and classify all as "christians"?
*OR that Trump is simply continuing to play his role as the conservative face for the cameras in all of this, and part of that role is to still help the "conservatives" and what people roll together and classify all as "christians"?
And with this, Trump retains part of the military who backs him. And with that military they can back the states and people who side with Trump/conservatives.

Option B: That Biden takes office, whether real or just as a puppet playing his role for the "leftist". All of which have shown and openly stated their hatred for who they call "christians", conservatives, gun owners, actual MEN, families, and ect. Labeling everyone that comes against their "ideaoligy", especially those against the sodimites and/or who has anything to do with what they call the bible, as "terrorists", as we said would happen back some years ago.
And who have pushed want to vastly increase abortion, violent crimes (when it fits their agenda like all the "protests", destroying small business, and burning of cities), make people and families defenseless and forced to accept criminals to do whatever they want (like I recently posted about how they want to pass "laws" that criminals who break into homes, stores, private property ect because they "need" stuff. And since it's a "need" that they won't be charged with a crime), and much more. The leftists who have openly been hand-in-hand with china, and would fully ask and accept Chinese troops on US soil, most likely under the umbrella of UN "peace keeping forces"? And so much more. And that Biden will retain part of the military, likely a smaller part which is also why he will use the UN and ect. And with such, those troops will be sent into the states that back Biden/lefts.

The point being, even if Trump is just playing his role... for all those trying to serve the Heavenly Father, even Trump just playing his role, it would be better than for those states and areas than it would be under biden/left. As at least the militas and people would be backed by at least some of the military. And the people wouldn't be under UN forces.

Now there is a third possible outcome in the coming weeks. That Trump is playing his role... but he does nothing. He just disappears or ect. Biden comes in and takes complete control. Sure some states may object to what ever degrees. But even if a state succeeds from the union all they will have is their own national guard and the people in that state. There would be no additional military support, no unified front, nor any supply lines coming in, including food and ect.

In the end, if Trump is Legit or if he is playing his role and continues to move forward with the military fighting against the left and UN/Chinese troops. This would be the best outcome. And yes, this is what we are praying will be the case.

BECAUSE... No Matter what happens... whether biden or trump.... Chaos, Civil War, and the division of the nation is coming.

And even if trump disappears and ect. It would still be FAR better to be in a State or Area that is (in reality not by polls or ect) aligned with Trump / Conservatives, verses those states and areas aligned with leftists/liberals/biden.

Why?

States aligned with biden / left have heavily restricted people's ability to own firearms, to protect themselves their family and their property without being arrested as the "criminal" because they were trying to stop the real criminals. Have far more people on the left, militant muslims, sodomites, and more who will immediately turn against anyone who is conservative or labeled as a "christian", especially if and when they know there will be no repercussions, which is already reaching that point. And Much More.

*Verses states who are aligned with Trump / Conservatives. States like Missouri who's governor made me begin to change my mind about "all politicians" back a few years ago. As he and other officials (some of which he put into offices here) that have tried to help the people, who have tried to stop some of the sins and abominations like child murder (aka "abortion"), who have passed laws so that people can defend themselves their family and their property more easily, and even encouraged people (18-35) to buy AR-15's and they would get 75% tax refund for doing so. (Why? Because even at that time our thoughts was that he wanted people to defend themselves, AND that he very likely had been given knowledge about certain events and things going to be taking place, and he knew that able bodied citizens were going to be needed to back up the national guard). He also point blank stated they would not allow the violence, looting, and the burning of cities, businesses and homes in the state in the so called "protests". And much more.

And if I wasn't clear previously... I am against Biden and ALL the wicked who are with him or others, no matter what their "association", open or hidden, and ect.

I was going to write more, there was other things I wanted to address. Some of the things I wanted to mention, but I've actually forgot. But in any case, you get my overall point. These are bad times. And no matter what happens next... it IS only going to get worse.

In the end, whether it is your local, state, or even national leaders... Yahuah in His Word states:

1st Timothy 2:1 I urge that, first of all, supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving thanks, be made for all men;

2 For kings, and for all that are in authority; that we may lead a quiet and shalom-filled life in all Shabbat guarding piety and seriousness.

So with that said, whether these leaders are legit or not, are seeking truth of any kind or not... Yahuah knows mens hearts, and He knows those He can use to help His People whether that is their intent or not. Just as He has done so before. So I can only say to pray and ask Yahuah for protection in what is coming, and to protect and help those who will help His people who are trying to serve Him. To give them favor with the right contacts, with the right soldiers, and that they have the resources they need to help Yahuahs people.

We Pray for Yahuahs people across the nations, that we will all have shalom even during these times of great trouble and tribulation.

Yahusha ben Moshe
